

Deb Bowen

AUTHOR • SPEAKER
309-582-4882

Holocaust Series

Human Rights Series Hero Series

"I'm asking ordinary students to do something extraordinary."

Creator of A BOOK by ME, Deb Bowen asks children to hear the WWII generation firsthand and write their stories for the next generation.

It started over a decade ago when she asked students to write the stories of three Jewish women she befriended — each named Esther. Today she has students choose to write for her Holocaust, Human Rights or Heroes series.

- Serves on Holocaust Education Committee of the Quad Cities and Yom Hashoah Committee
- Member of Daughters of American Revolution (DAR)
- Recipient of Hope for Humanity Award, Augustana College in April 2015
- Speaker at Los Angeles Museum of the Holocaust (LAMOTH) in October 2015
- Speaker at Children of American Revolution (CAR) at Illinois State Convention in February of 2016
- Speaker at State Social Studies Institute in Des Moines Iowa in June of 2016
- Nominated for a Jefferson Award Spring 2019

References:

Allan Ross, Director Jewish Federation of the Quad Cities 309-793-1300

Beth Kean, Director, LAMOTH 323-456-5086

Stefanie Wager, Vice-President National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS) 515-988-8556

Michael Wolnerman, President of the Jewish Federation of Greater Des Moines 515-987-0899

"I have many times researched and studied the Holocaust, but these stories bring the experience to life."

Mary Jean Eisenhower
Granddaughter of President Dwight D. Eisenhower